Project Section-1 Submission - 4410Spring2024 32

Sankar SRINIVASAN

From IS 4410-092 Spring 2024

Corresponding to the first section of the Project final deliverable, each student in the group individually submit your thoughts for Section-1 - the introductory section of the paper.

Understand that these exercises are meant to force teams to take the project seriously and contribute equally so that the final deliverable is truly the group's deliverable.

Also, being the very first submission - it's possible that when you revisit this section before your final submission - you may have even better ideas to improve this. But having something in writing will help you greatly save time and focus on improving it.

Section-1 Introduction

- Define ethics and the need to focus on ethics in business settings
- Define Technology ethics and the need to study the ethical issues surrounding technology
- In a few lines, refer to how ethics can be incorporated in technology settings by paying attention to the design of the technology system and by focusing on the privacy policy
- You can use some examples or news reports to support your point
- If you are quoting/citing, give credit to the original source by including the reference in the same page using the "footnote" option. Please Cite/quote/give credits generously -- this is with regard to the final paper which is likely to be in a word format - for the purpose of this assignment you can put the reference - say a link right next to the place where you are referring to it.
- Roughly 1 page of content double-spaced for this section

(To find your group members, see under People -> (Clone)4410Spring2024)

Your grade will be based on peer-evaluation of your team members. That is the extent to which your group members think your efforts are valuable will determine your grade on this deliverable.
