

Ross McCallum

Monday

Group C -

I've posted a few things in our team collaboration area so we can focus on the topic and deliverables this week. I also set-up a web-conference for 3/10 at 9PM EST so we can get together, answer any questions, and put some ideas on paper.

My initial thought is to have everyone submit a topic for discussion for the paper. We can vote on which topic makes the most sense given the overall deliverable we need to create for the course. I'd prefer to have people volunteer to take on portions rather than having to assign these myself. That being said - we need to have someone take on the leadership role. I'd love to be able to however I'm in the middle of a job transition and one of the things I want to get better at is taking a step back and letting others take control.

Please let me know how we can best move forward! I'm all in on making sure we deliver a solid outcome for all!

Here's my idea for the course topic: Examining the Flint Water Crisis. To me this is a topic that is full of different avenues we can explore but at the root of the issue we can explore the crisis but the underlying need and obligation to provide clean access to drinking water.

← Reply

Mario Lopez

11:35am

My strategy is to work hand and hand with my group. I will make sure I do my part and help anybody in my group in our project. Monday we already communicated through WebEx and everyone received their task for us to complete this week group assignment. We all are comfortable about dealing with solar. When we are not conducting a WebEx meeting, we stay in contact by group text to brain storm more ideas. This group everyone is involved and if they are unable to show up to WebEx meeting we make sure they are on the same track as everyone else. My portion is to cover the Cultural aspect of this assignment and then I will send it to Antonio so he can put together the thesis portion. So far this is our strategy for sharing initial ideas and developing teamwork to come up with a great action plan. This is the list our break down for Team A: Thesis Statement and Group conclusion- Antonio M. Reyes, Economic-Rogelio Mendoza, Cultural-Mario, Lopez, Social- Dynelle Lopez, Environmental- Paul Taylor, Political-Lizbeth Murzynski, Ethical - Robert Orozco, Powerpoint Architect- Dynelle Lopez, Word Document Architect-Antonio M. Reyes-Thompson.

← Reply 