

Market Revolution

All that stuff ... give me, give me and I want more, more, more. The market has it all and I need it all. Here is where it all began. And I love that free and open competition ... such BS thinking about Comcast, PG&E, oil prices and the list grows. And of course not everyone is happy and contented.

I'm going to be rich! My store, "The Single Sock", will have no competition!

the effort of persons or firms to attract business by offering the most favorable terms
