

Hello Vas,

I am sorry to get back to you so late. Here are my suggestions for your corrections:

Firstly, Homer wrote this in the 8th-century B.C/B.C.E, but the translation that we read was published in 1991. In your introduction, it's important to clarify that.

The main area of correction has to do with your thesis statement. You present a good analysis in your body paragraphs, but explaining the formation of the Achean army is an analytical statement, it isn't an argument. For your revision, re-write your main argument and make sure that's the same argument in the conclusion— it needs to have a claim that your reader can agree or disagree with.

Finally, remember that everything should be in the same font. No bolding the title, etc.

I hope this helps, and again, sorry for the delay.

Best,
Hosanna A.

...

Reply

Forward