

developed the sense that if they will talk, the other students will laugh and bully him (Klein 154). Through the act of bullying, the victim goes into the state of psychological depression and mental distress. About 14% of students considered suicide and almost 7% of the bullied students have attempted it because they think that they are useless and cannot do anything to maintain their self-respect and self-esteem. This is one of the biggest dilemmas of the 21st century that needs to be resolved. This issue can be resolved if the teachers have open communication with their students and encourage them to help others instead of teasing them and there is a need to engage parents on this matter.

Bullying at school level

As the trend line of bullying is increasing the cases of depression and anxiety has also reached another level. People think that bullying is nothing serious but an act of enjoyment; however, it has just elevated the level of mental stress as shown below in the figure. These problems need to be solved as soon as possible but before that it needs to be addressed. There are several ways in which the detrimental effects of these problems can be conveyed to the world. The most prominent strategy is the education and public awareness among the people. If the

According to whom?

Is this your thesis statement? The paper needs a clear statement early on that outlines the various proposed solutions and the fact that (and maybe even, briefly, why) y [...]

This needs an MLA citation.

How many people think this? How common is this? See my EIGHT STEPS FOR REVISION SUCCESS: THE SEQUEL document regarding overly broad or bold statements.

What level?

developed the sense that if they will talk, the other students will laugh and bully him (Klein 154). Through the act of bullying, the victim goes into the state of psychological depression and mental distress. About 14% of students considered suicide and almost 7% of the bullied students have attempted it because they think that they are useless and cannot do anything to maintain their self-respect and self-esteem. This is one of the biggest dilemmas of the 21st century that needs to be resolved. This issue can be resolved if the teachers have open communication with their students and encourage them to help others instead of teasing them and there is a need to engage parents on this matter.

Bullying at school level

As the trend line of bullying is increasing the cases of depression and anxiety has also reached another level. People think that bullying is nothing serious but an act of enjoyment; however, it has just elevated the level of mental stress as shown below in the figure. These problems need to be solved as soon as possible but before that it needs to be addressed. There are several ways in which the detrimental effects of these problems can be conveyed to the world. The most prominent strategy is the education and public awareness among the people. If the

According to whom?
Jacob Orion Hyatt
proposed solutions and the fact that (and maybe even, briefly, why) your proposed solution is the most economically, legislatively, and/or socially feasible solution. [...]
Reply

This needs an MLA citation.

How many people think this? How common is this? See my EIGHT STEPS FOR REVISION SUCCESS: THE SEQUEL document regarding overly broad or bold statements.

What level?

initiative is taken to stop the bullying within the school premises, then there are increased chances that this problem can be solved. In school, every child should be given the awareness about the concept of bullying, how it originated and how it is affecting the life of innocent children. All states have some forms of anti-bullying laws. There are also bullying prevention resources and different videos and blogs that helped a lot in dealing with the bullying. The federal laws should also be implemented because without implementing Laws the prevention of bullying is not possible. Addressing the issue through videos and workshops so not much and has proved to be an effective approach in giving education to the students as well as parents. Students should be given the information about the correct bullying definition. They think that bullying is another name of fun and entertainment; however, sometimes it takes the level of aggressiveness (Cross). In this education strategy, different individuals are taught that every act that hurts the feeling of the other person and shatters their feeling comes into the zone of bullying. Therefore, clear information and understanding about bullying plays a significant role in addressing the problem.

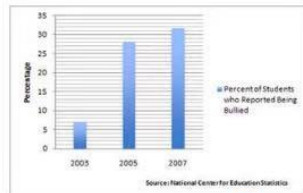

Bullying increases, the level of depression and anxiety

Where is this information coming from?

Why are federal laws needed? What is wrong with the state laws? Is it feasible that this would pass in the current legislative body?

According to American Psychological Association, about 40-80 percent bullying occurs mostly in the high-level schools as shown in figure 3 and it is most difficult for everyone to bear it and even to those who are doing it. So there is a need to implement bullying prevention policy in all the schools of the United Nation that helps in addressing and solving the problem. Bullying is actually now becoming a common practice that kids normally target immigrant classmates on the basis of their social statuses and differences in culture.

Increase in bullying cases per year

The purpose of bullying prevention policy is to give awareness of the present problem and then directing the consequences. It is effective because by giving awareness you are going to stop this process for the next time. The programs that are based on punishment are not effective instead it increases the chances of bullying when all the responsibility is placed on the children level according to the prevention policy. This policy also focuses on the climate of school because a positive school climate promotes healthy development while negative climate increases the aggression in students. The positive climate mainly includes mostly those feelings of having power and how to express it and use of media as illustrated by the quote, "Children should be able to live a life free from bullying and harassment and it is the time that we all took a stand against this" (Bonell 58). This needs to be addressed not only in schools but also in a society. Teachers also play an important role for implementation of this policy because teachers should be prepared properly to deal with every type of bullying (Bonell 54).

This last point seems to be a whole new issue that is not really fully explored yet.

Might there be more recent information?

Parents and caretakers also play an important role in addressing the issue of bullying and controlling it by using different practices. Aggression is the most common problem that is present in young children. It should be addressed carefully by motivating the behaviors of sharing things with each other, helping someone and also solving the problem of others. Parents having warm behavior and proper communication with children reduces the chances of bullying. There should be a clear communication between parents and children about the bullying. It helps them to understand that it is harmful for everyone and if they face such a situation then how to respond properly. Parents should teach children to say 'STOP' or 'walk away' in such situations as shown in figure 3 and also help others if they are in such a situation by speaking up or seek help from the adults. Children mostly learn by the behavior of their parents. If there are problems present in the family environment, then it leads to bullying. So parents should learn not to expose any problems in front of children (Hanish). Parents should also show an authoritative behavior that means giving freedom to their children but within certain limits also reduces the risk. The most important point that can help the children from bullying is to motivate them for activities of their interest, hobbies and that increases their confidence, helps them to make more friends and also helps them when they are bullied (Bowes 550).

What would you say is the main goal of this paragraph? What is the specific nature of this anti-bullying, its costs and and its legislative feasibility?

I would recommend always ending in your own words, not citing or paraphrasing someone else's.

Stop Bullying

From my perspective, the best strategy that would prove effective in addressing the concern of bullying is a bullying prevention program. This is one of the best strategy as it focuses on the climate and the culture of the society as a whole. It also includes reviews about the policies and rules essential for prevention of bullying. The bullying prevention program includes prevention kits at different school levels and their cost is also different. At preschool level the cost of this kit is about 695 dollars while at high school level the cost is 849 dollars. If this is higher than your budget, then it can also be ordered as 4 copies and it costs only 149 dollars. The main objective of this program is to make the world aware of what bullying is and how it is taking the lives of innocent people. This program would help in telling the difference between bullying and enjoyment. Hurting someone with the harsh words or staring at someone with a strange gaze is also included in bullying as the other person gets affected by such things. Therefore, a public platform is required for addressing such issues so that every person including students, doctors, teachers and parents. If the parent knows about the bullying, then they can help their children in maintaining their confidence. Similarly, a clinically depressed child from school bullying can be treated by doctors.

I would it make it clearer through the framing of the earlier alternative examples that they are indeed not your "best solution," and you'll want to show how, specifically, they are [...]

Where do these figures come from? What is a prevention kit, for that matter?

There's still a lot of descriptions of bullying throughout this essay. This should be limited to the introduction or, at most, the first two paragraphs as you already covered this in yo [...]

Stop Bullying

From my perspective, the best strategy that would prove effective in addressing the concern of bullying is a bullying prevention program. This is one of the best strategy as it focuses on the climate and the culture of the society as a whole. It also includes reviews about the policies and rules essential for prevention of bullying. The bullying prevention program includes prevention kits at different school levels and their cost is also different. At preschool level the cost of this kit is about 695 dollars while at high school level the cost is 849 dollars. If this is higher than your budget, then it can also be ordered as 4 copies and it costs only 149 dollars. The main objective of this program is to make the world aware of what bullying is and how it is taking the lives of innocent people. This program would help in telling the difference between bullying and enjoyment. Hurting someone with the harsh words or staring at someone with a strange gaze is also included in bullying as the other person gets affected by such things. Therefore, a public platform is required for addressing such issues so that every person including students, doctors, teachers and parents. If the parent knows about the bullying, then they can help their children in maintaining their confidence. Similarly, a clinically depressed child from school bullying can be treated by doctors.

examples that they are indeed not your "best solution," and you'll want to show how, specifically, they are economically, legislatively, and/or socially inferior. [...]

Reply

Where do these figures come from? What is a prevention kit, for that matter?

There's still a lot of descriptions of bullying throughout this essay. This should be limited to the introduction or, at most, the first two paragraphs as you already covered this in yo [...]

Stop Bullying

From my perspective, the best strategy that would prove effective in addressing the concern of bullying is a bullying prevention program. This is one of the best strategy as it focuses on the climate and the culture of the society as a whole. It also includes reviews about the policies and rules essential for prevention of bullying. The bullying prevention program includes prevention kits at different school levels and their cost is also different. At preschool level the cost of this kit is about 695 dollars while at high school level the cost is 849 dollars. If this is higher than your budget, then it can also be ordered as 4 copies and it costs only 149 dollars. The main objective of this program is to make the world aware of what bullying is and how it is taking the lives of innocent people. This program would help in telling the difference between bullying and enjoyment. Hurting someone with the harsh words or staring at someone with a strange gaze is also included in bullying as the other person gets affected by such things. Therefore, a public platform is required for addressing such issues so that every person including students, doctors, teachers and parents. If the parent knows about the bullying, then they can help their children in maintaining their confidence. Similarly, a clinically depressed child from school bullying can be treated by doctors.

I would it make it clearer through the framing of the earlier alternative examples that they are indeed not your "best solution," and you'll want to show how, specifically, they are [...]

Where do these figures come from? What is a prevention kit, for that matter?

bullying throughout this essay. This should be limited to the introduction or, at most, the first two paragraphs, as you already covered this in your Contexts Project. [...]

Reply

reason that the dominant and high authoritative person will provide him harm and this drops their confidence level. If the students are given proper advice on how to tackle such a situation, then there is no chance that they take this stupidest act so seriously and impose it on their brains.

Cyberbullying and other initiation programs should be taken more seriously. They should keep all the records and data of previous bullying and take strict actions against it. If the organizations of cyberbullying show carelessness and negligence in their actions, then the problem of bullying can never be resolved and it will further. Therefore, strict actions should be taken against those who are involved in such acts. It includes the action of removing people from the society that harassed you or remove yourself from the platform. If someone is involved in threatening, then do not wait and inform to the authorities as soon as possible. On the other hand, the educational institutes should make rules and regulations and take strict actions against those students who try to bully and hurt others (Limber 458).

From the whole debate, it is concluded that bullying has become a global concern and is leading to traumatize children. It is a common fact that every individual has different thinking ability and take things differently. Some people take bullying actions of the others in a lighter mode whereas some students take it seriously which affect their mental health and leads to psychological distress. Not only students are involved in the bullying, some teachers also exhibit the characteristics of bullying. For instance, if a student fails an exam in the class and teacher taunts him throughout the session that he is unable to do anything and is useless, then this behavior of teacher is also counted as bully. The instructor should give him courage that he can

Is all of this a part of the anti-bullying campaign? Are there three different campaigns or one campaign with three sections?

Is this not already done? To what degree is this already done or not already done?

This should not be one of the findings of this paper; you already defined the seriousness and the characteristics of bullying in your Contexts Project.

Works Cited

Bonell, Chris, et al. "Modifying the secondary school environment to reduce bullying and aggression: the INCLUSIVE cluster RCT." Public Health Research 7.18 (2019): 1-164.

Bowes, Lucy, et al. "School, neighborhood, and family factors are associated with children's bullying involvement: A nationally representative longitudinal study." Journal of the American Academy of Child & Adolescent Psychiatry 48.5 (2009): 545-553.

Cross, Donna, et al. "School-based strategies to address cyber bullying." (2011).

Hanish, Laura D., et al. "Bullying among young children: The influence of peers and teachers." Bullying in American schools: A social-ecological perspective on prevention and intervention 141 (2004).

Klein, J., Cornell, D., & Konold, T. (2012). Relationships between bullying, school climate, and student risk behaviors. School Psychology Quarterly, 27(3), 154.

Limber, Susan P., and Mark A. Small. "State laws and policies to address bullying in schools." School Psychology Review 32.3 (2003): 445-455.

Needs annotations (see summative comment).