

This is a graded discussion: 10 points possible

due Jul 20

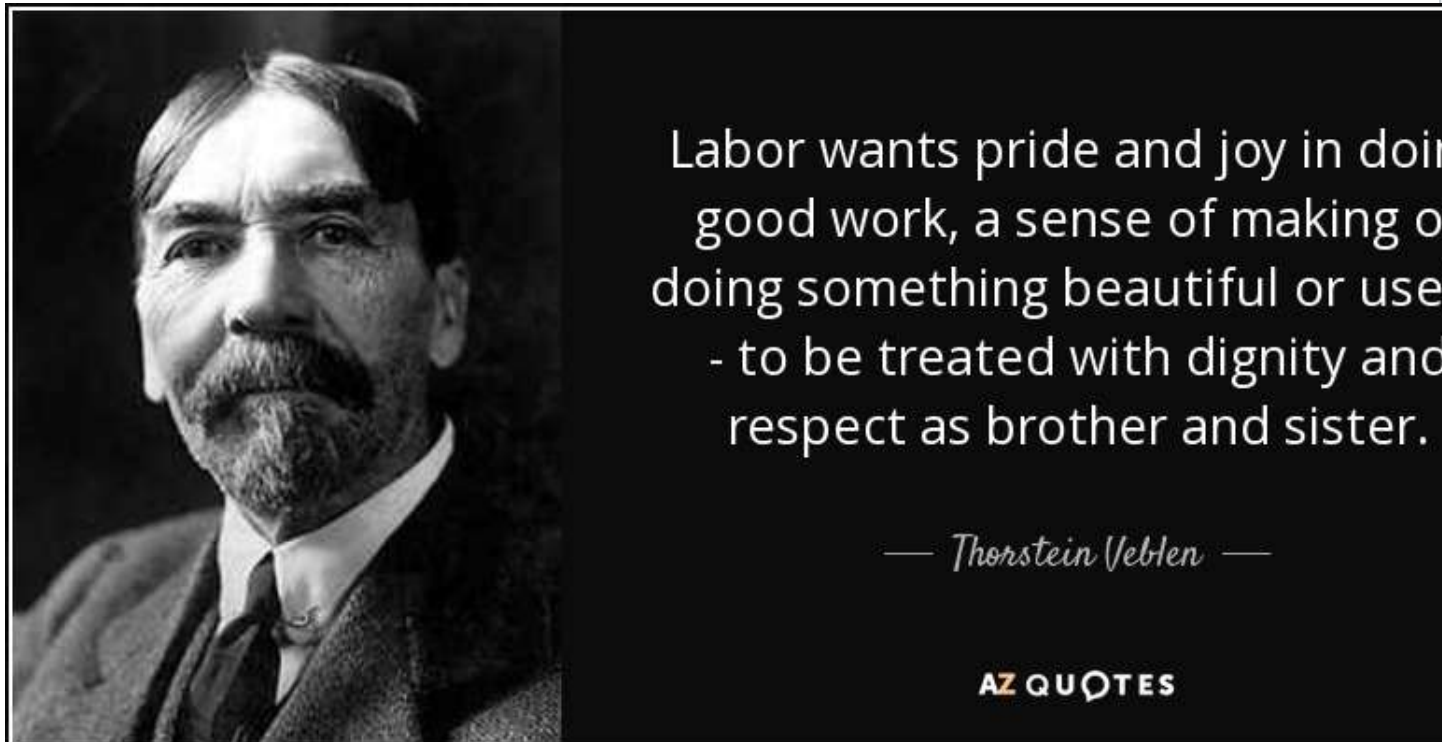

Dignity of Labor

RICK MONIZ

23 23

What Does Labor Want?

Assignment

Workers struggled to make ends meet. Long hours, low wages, ruthless exploitation and dangerous working conditions were the norm. Today we find that a livable wage remains elusive. Your task is to respond to these prompts:

1. Describe the conditions in the early days of industrialization?
2. Does labor have an inherent right to organize and strike? Why or NOT?
3. Should there be a mandatory minimum wage- living wage - here in the 21st century?

Search entries or author

Unread

← Reply

Replies are only visible to those who have posted at least one reply.