"The Storm"

The Storm

No bold and not extra space above and below the title. Just double space throughout.

"The Storm"

The storm focuses on a rainy day where there is a rekindling of love and the engagement of sexual desires between two ex-lovers. An important question is why individuals would put their valuable relationship in a mess for the sake of an old desire for sex. Infatuation, lust, and affairs that are forbidden are always ready. As a result, it is not wise that an individual put their relationship at risk for such a pleasure, would you? ~~A storm is bad weather that contains the presence of rain, lightning, and thunder and is usually a frightening moment if an individual is caught up in the storm.~~ The storm by Chopin represents a scene in the text where sexualizing is the major theme. The storm sees Alcee and Calixta coming together, reigniting their old lust and fling for each other. Need a thesis that combines the theme and the literary elements.

~~Both Calixta and Alcee have sexual desires. The two have sexual desires and connections that they share that they do not seem to find in their marriages. Bambino cannot satisfy the sexual needs of Calixta as well as Alcee can. Alcee is Calixta's source of lust, while the cabinet is only her source of love. There is no passion for exploring sexual desires between Calixta and Alcee from the text compared to Calixta and Alcee. While only sleeping with one man, Calixta can not fully explore the sexual needs that she desires, and as a result, Alcee makes her feel special in a certain kind of way that her husband can not make her feel. The sexual desires are rekindled when lightning hits a chinaberry tree, Alcee embraces~~
