What specific developmental skills do students possess at the middle school age in comparison to the skills that are required of them through the content standards and how do they not align (since you indicate there is a problem of the match)? Students on an alternative curriculum and an alternative assessment fall under different circumstances than your average student. The purpose of this assignment is to be able to evaluate the curriculum and be sure the skills we are expecting students to perform are appropriate in relation to where they are developmentally. Since you did indicate there is a problem of the match, I am not seeing where you made suggestions on how to correct this problem. - 1 point deduction. I also don't see where you addressed any of the questions in the second part of this assignment dealing with individual differences, continuity of learning, and social/cultural changes. - 2 point deduction. Good examples of schools work to meet students basic needs.
