

Discussion: Has Technology Been Good for HR? ▾

Continue what you have learned in this module by discussing the following:

- Explain whether or not technology has been good for the HR function in organizations.
- What changes (in technology, in HR, or in both) are still needed, but aren't happening quick enough to suit you?

Give strong responses and good employer examples.

NOTE: Students are required to bring in at least one high-quality source outside of the module and cite it in their initial discussion response. High-quality references come from peer-reviewed academic journals or textbooks found in the Trident Online Library.

Your Subsequent Posts:

Read through the responses by your peers and post 100-word responses to at least two classmates' posts (there is a word counter in the text box). Bring in ideas/comments and/or research/readings not mentioned yet.
