

An Overview of the PSY 510 and PSY 520 Final Projects

This infographic will provide you with a roadmap of the final projects in these courses. You will be able to see how the PSY 520 project builds on the content started in PSY 510.

 You are here

PSY 510 Milestone One

In Milestone One, you will select a topic, formulate a preliminary research question, and create a list of pertinent search terms.

Due: Module Two

PSY 510 Milestone Two

In Milestone Two, you will submit your updated research question, your hypothesis, and an annotated bibliography.

Due: Module Four

PSY 510 Milestone Three

In Milestone Three, you will submit a draft of your introduction and literature review.

Due: Module Six

PSY 520 Milestone One

You will begin PSY 520 by submitting an edited draft of the final project you submitted in PSY 510.

Due: Module One

PSY 510 Final Project Submission

Your final project for this course is the submission of a research proposal. You must download a copy of your final project with instructor feedback to use for PSY 520.

Due: Module Ten

PSY 510 Milestone Four

In Milestone Four, you will submit a draft of your methods, data analysis, and anticipated results sections.

Due: Module Eight

PSY 520 Milestone Two

In Module Two, you will submit a draft of the research materials you will be giving to the participants in your study.

Due: Module Two

PSY 520 Milestone Three

You will create a Qualtrics account, program your survey into Qualtrics, create an introductory message to participants, and deploy the survey link in SNHUConnect ("PSY 510/520 Research Methods Student Lounge").

Due: Module Four

PSY 520 Milestone Four

You will submit a draft of your methods and results sections; this entails revising your work from PSY 510 based on the actual methods you used and results you obtained.

Due: Module Six

Congratulations! You are an educated producer of psychological research.

PSY 520 Final Project Submission

Your final project for this course is to submit a completed research paper.

PSY 520 Milestone Five

Milestone Five is a draft of your discussion section.
