

Check out in your email and find a sample of email which can not create a communication between sender and reciever. For example, you are graduated student, but you receive an email that advertising/introduce about undergraduate programe which is not belong to you. In addtion, you show some errors or mistake in the way of comunication in this email. Also, you show why this email miscommunication with the reciever (via encoding, decoding, message, wrong receive such as gender, sex, cultural...)

The picture of the email should add in the answer or separate.