What is meant by collaborative stewardship?

By collaborative stewardship I am referring to the efforts made by individual organizations to work in a coordinated fashion for the accomplishment of a shared vision that promotes life within a community. By collaborative stewardship I am not referring to commissions, more conferences, nor simply joint projects; but rather, to concerted activity associated with a number of stages beginning with the development of a shared vision of community that yields concrete milestones established with clearly specified outcomes in mind. Progress toward the accomplishment of well-defined goals then becomes detectable as a consequence of careful monitoring of quality of life in the jurisdiction.
