

The Plastic Vortex

"The deadliest predator is trash." —washedashore.org

"By 2050 there will be more plastic than fish in world's oceans."
—World Economic Forum

Twas brillig, and the slithy toves/Did gyre and gimble in the wabe;
All mimsy were the borogoves,/And the mome raths outgrabe."
—Lewis Carroll, "The Jabberwocky"

Did his wabe foresee the plastic ocean gyres outshrieking eternity?

All weavers see a universe between thread and thread.

As a child I looked at grains of sand against the sun, their crystal prisms, alive with light.

In time I began to see opaque little balls with no light. Plastic beads disguised as sand, tiny pellets entering our bloodstream and the life of the sea.

"Look to the little ones, the minute particulars."
—William Blake
