Currently at the threshold of my career with an expected degree in Computer Science, I have been researching companies of interest that I feel would be a good fit for my professional interests. After learning about Zenith-Aeronautics' newest technology breakthroughs for commercial and military aircrafts, I am very interested in joining your organization as a software programmer.

I realize you will need to know a bit more about me in order to consider me as suitable candidate; for this reason, I have enclosed my résumé for your review as the first step in the application process. I trust you will find my early experience to be a strong indicator of what I would contribute as a skilled, hardworking member of your innovative Software Development team.

In my current position as an Intern Computer Programmer / Help Desk Associate with Sky-Force Technologies, a leading provider of advanced aerospace systems and components, I am greatly enjoying the challenges my dual role has to offer. In this unique position, I work collaboratively with a talented team of IT professionals in the development of beta software for the aerospace industry.

As a help desk associate, I have learned a lot about hardware and software requirements at all levels of the organization. My technical acumen and ability to diffuse the tensions of stressed end users has contributed to effective communication, problem analysis, and technical resolutions from common to complex in nature. Combined, I am confident I would be an asset to Zenith-Aeronautics.

Thank you in advance for your time and consideration. I hope to speak with you soon.

Sincerely,

Diana Hanson
