

There are other factors that is being discussed in this article is the difference between the automobile market in Europe with automobile market in United States. In Europe the automobile industry is not backed by the youth population however, in United States the automobile industry is backed by the youth population. Europe has strongest and largest car market but United States does not have largest car market. The Europe produces efficient quality cars as compared to America.

- o grammar/style: VERY POOR
- o content: poor, and

WRONG Economic Analysis -