

I think that it is also interesting to note that the black death has caused social structure disruptions as well. It impacted the population numbers & there was about 30-60% loss <sup>the</sup> in population. this meant that labor wages were getting higher and higher. Peasants also got more powerful and got their own lands. this was a threat to the higher class people that as peasants got more powerful, they made a rebellion against the government & civil governments began to rise @ the time of using gunpowder. there were also many collapses of farms because peasants did not work.

People began to think differently & began to ask questions ~~and~~ wrote books about it like Pico della Mirandola. He can also write about the Rise of individualism, and the philosophy of humanism (Rational discri-