

Personality Assessment (10 pts. – Due T 2/17)

Working in a heterogeneous group can be challenging, but it can enable a group to be more productive and creative. Also, a group with diverse members is less likely to experience groupthink. Let's explore the heterogeneity of our class by examining one aspect of diversity in small groups—personality differences.

<http://www.humanmetrics.com/cgi-win/iTypes2.asp> <Take this online 72 question Myers-Briggs and Jung personality test and answer the following questions:

1. What is your personality type with percentages (e.g. I[44%] S[25%] F[38%] J[78]) (2 pts.)
2. Using your type description by either D. Keirsey or J. Butt and M.M. Heiss, what are at least 2 relevant facts about your personality? (4 pts.)
  -
  -
3. Mention a fact that was not relevant. (2 pts.)
  -
4. How might these “facts” affect your performance in a group? (2 pts.)