

5. What examples and details support your surprising view? Free write or list ten details and/or examples that will help you to clarify your reader's misconceptions.

- Ex: Carp did free writing on all of the experiences she had in the prison... her first time visiting the prison, the activities, i.e. clown groups, orphan relief programs, origami, etc.

6. Which audience misconceptions will you need to concede to? Generally, there may be some truth to one or more of their viewpoints, and to look fair, you need to acknowledge those. List two, and explain why you will need to concede to them.

- Ex: Carp has to concede to the audience that she was scared initially, that security was frightening, etc...

7. Explain two reasons readers should trust you on this issue (ethos!)

8. Choose two thesis templates, and compose your thesis in two different ways.
