Choose one of the demonstrations OR a person that Anne Moody describes in the book. Find THREE relevant sources on this topic/person. These three sources must come from J/Stor and/or Proquest. Each source must be at least one page long. Both of these sites are found on the MTSU library under database.

Investigation /Research:

A: Bibliographic citation of source.

Source Review:

B: Talk about the type of source (primary or secondary; magazine article, newspaper article, or journal article. 1-2 sentences.)

C: Talk about the author. (1-2 sentences)

Is this a professor? Maybe this is a professional in the field? Or is this person a hobbyist? Tell the audience about the author in the first part of the annotation. If it is a website find out as much as you can about the creator.

D: Explain what the article is about. (1-3 sentences)

Tell the audience what is in the article. This is the most difficult part of the annotation because it requires you to be very succinct. Don't rewrite the article; just write the base facts and important notes about the article here.

E: Explain how this article illuminates your topic. (1-2 sentences)

What about this article makes it relevant to your topic? Why did you select it? What pertinent bit of information makes this article stand out among the others?

F: Compare or contrast this work with another you have cited. (1-2 sentences)

How does this specific article relate to another article in your annotated bibliography? Do they agree or not? Why not? What makes them unique?
