

Autobiography

found ~~at~~ the office cabinets. During the day of the meeting ~~the~~ my boss went to the stage and took the written speech to him and after few lines of reading ~~h~~ realized that he had one day read the same speech at the previous meeting and also when he inspect the listeners he realized that they were totally bored. He decided to stop ~~the~~ reading and tell the listeners that he could not have much that day. On the other hand, I stated reading several books, journals and other articles while copying some words from them then I finally combined the words and it produce an article which I also gave to my friend who was best in English to correct mistakes which I had made on it and actually I was congratulated on that creative progress.

My initial feeling on the writing was very difficult but as time goes by, I have developed the interest to the extent that I can currently rate it as turning to be a bit simpler. Motivation from different fields plays a major role in the learning the more one likes it the more it turns simpler and that becomes the driving force. I had several goals that I wanted to accomplish in this world. I hoped that a good number of the people in the society would think about who they were at the beginning and what they were supposed to do or perform to make themselves better, their own families, and finally their community at large. I wanted to pass them this message in order to encourage them to do so through an understandable and in an interesting method. I will be happy to have accomplished this goal, as this is my biggest goal I want to achieve in my life.

In the learning fraternity teamwork is key virtue that one has to develop in order to achieve a lot and gain much of the knowledge due to the facts many brains are better than one. Moreover, my strength is much based on the teamwork that I have developed with the people who are supporting me and giving me motivation without the ridicule which could have demoralized me to be off the learning. Much of my weakness lies on the slow learning of the grammar and the pronunciation of some words.
