

Case: ABC Company

In its consideration of accounting for manufacturing overhead, ABC Company, a manufacturing organization, has been informed that there are unlimited numbers of cost driver classification schemes.

- A. If ABC decides to use machine hours, which scheme is being used? Give examples.
 - i. When would the use of machine hours as a cost driver be justified?
- B. Define hidden factory and how it relates to manufacturing overhead.

Requirements

1. Create a PowerPoint presentation: Each team must post a voice-narrated slide presentation based on the case using Microsoft Office 2010 PowerPoint. The presentation should not be longer than 10 minutes (maximum of 10 slides). Your project will be graded on grammar, presentation, clarity, spelling sentence structure, paragraph structure, accuracy, correctness of interpretations, and completeness. Submit the voice-narrated PowerPoint presentation using the Team Case Group Discussion Board Week Four by Day 7 at 3:00 a.m. EST.
2. Share your PowerPoint presentation: Post the presentation to in the class group discussion board titled "Team Case Presentation Group Discussion." The link to the discussion board can be found in the course in the Week Four course content area.
3. Comment on another team's PowerPoint presentation: Team 1 will comment on Team 2's presentation; Team 2 will comment on Team 3's, and so on. Team 5 will comment on Team 1's presentation. Each member of your team must leave at least one constructive and helpful comment on the appropriate team's presentation.
4. Team written report: Prepare a research report in accordance with APA guidelines (see details in syllabus). Use 12-point Times New Roman font with 1-inch margins. Your project will be graded on grammar, presentation, clarity, spelling, sentence structure, paragraph structure, accuracy, correctness of interpretations, and completeness. Your report should not exceed eight written pages. The responses should be complete but concise. Submit the completed report using the drop box found in Week Five by Day 3 at 3:00 a.m. EST.

You are encouraged to use the group communication tools within Blackboard that are found under My Groups, but you are free to use any external tools that you agree upon with your team.