

Dr. Billie Moore: Instructor

- _____ 57. What did the Supreme Court decide in Sweatt v. Painter?
- Blacks had no right to be admitted to white law schools if the school had a separate facility of any kind.
 - Sweatt had to be admitted to the main law school, not simply given space in the basement of the university.
 - Elementary education should not be segregated, as it had a negative effect on young schoolchildren and promoted racism.
 - The NAACP had no right to fund the legal education of black students at white schools.
- _____ 58. What was the result of the Brown case?
- The court declared that separate educations for blacks and whites were not equal, therefore overturning the Plessy case.
 - Blacks were once again denied a right to equal educational opportunities.
 - The Supreme Court agreed that segregation was bad but refused to issue a decision in the matter.
 - All educational facilities, both private and public, had to be desegregated immediately.
- _____ 59. What effect did the lynching of Emmett Till have on young black Americans?
- It frightened many. Young people would take only a small role in the civil rights movement because of their fear.
 - It made many young black men turn to violence, crime, and terrorism.
 - Because Till had been a war hero, many young blacks enlisted in the army.
 - It infuriated many of them and caused them to fight its ever happening again.
- _____ 60. What provoked whites in Money, Mississippi, to lynch Emmett Till?
- Till attempted to register to vote in rural Georgia.
 - Till raped a white woman in a large southern city.
 - He breached social etiquette—the boy called a white woman "Baby."
 - Till was married to a white woman and had several children in the North with her.
- _____ 61. What event sparked the Montgomery Bus Boycott?
- the leadership of Martin Luther King, Jr.
 - a dispute over police brutality in the city
 - the violence against black men on the buses
 - the arrest of Rosa Parks, a civil rights activist
- _____ 62. Who was chosen to lead the new Montgomery Improvement Association?
- E. D. Nixon
 - Rosa Parks
 - Martin Luther King, Jr.
 - Jo Ann Robinson