Third Exam

Directions: You must answer 3 of the 4 questions, and you have to answer Q 3.

1. The article, "Internet Research Ethics" by Elizabeth A. Buchana in the Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy, presents the issue of privacy as a critical aspect of ethical research. Explain why this is true. Add your own position.
2. Answer both part A and B.
 - a. Part A. Explain what research ethic boards guidelines are.
 - b. Part B. Present your own viewpoints of their value and limitations.
3. Intellectual property has 3 basic justifications. They are:
 - a) personality based justification
 - b) Utilitarian justification
 - c) Lockean justification.

Choose one of the justifications and provide an argument for the one you find most compelling.

4. There is a position that claims that information is not property and that information is protected by the 5th amendment. Provide an argument for or against this claim.

Thank you for completing this exam.
