Leadership

Background:

Leadership is paramount to our profession. It is integral to our institutional success today and tomorrow. As we transition to meet the challenges of an increasingly complex and uncertain environment, our Army requires intelligent, competent, physically and mentally tough leaders of character. Army leaders must adapt their thinking, formations, and employment techniques to the specific situation they face. This requires an adaptable and innovative mind, a willingness to accept prudent risk in unfamiliar or rapidly changing situations, and an ability to adjust based on continuous assessment.

Thought Provoking Questions

- The fundamentals of leader development simplify and span the formal leader development activities. Following the fundamentals for leader development, how have you developed others?

- • Influence is the essential element of leadership that refers to how people create and relay their messages, behaviors, and attitudes to affect others. What methods of influence have you used as a leader to build positive rapport with your Soldiers or co-workers?
